WATER MANAGEMENT AND CONSERVATION INITIATIVES

Institution has started simple measures for conservation initiatives like using both sides of paper for printing, logical line spacing options, using waste paper for rough work, soft copies instead of hard copies are preferred for record keeping, use of recycled paper and etc. as all these activities reduce the use of paper and contribute towards sustainable development. A rainwater harvesting unit is also installed in the college campus and the water collected is used for watering the herbal garden plants. As far as economical usage of waste is concerned the waste paper in the form of old answer scripts, student's assignments, practical notebooks, very old charts, models and cardboards are sold off to itinerant waste buyers and this activity helps in extracting economic benefits in addition to the reduction of wastage. Moreover different activities under Nature Club such as create out of waste, best out of waste such as making of paper wall hangings, paper bags etc helps a lot in reducing wastage and skill development of students. Above all organic waste generated in college campus is converted into compost or vermicomposting depending upon the situation. As far as economical usage of the water is concerned, the college Gardner is made aware about the economical usage of water through one to one counselling. The water is stored in the water tanks installed at convenient location which is very easily accessible for cleanliness and maintenance purpose. There is direct supply of water to the large water tank and from there water is distributed to different locations of the college using water pump. Even watering college lawns is done judiciously by monitoring the weather updates and in case of rain forecast the activity related to watering the lawns is postponed.
